

Low Cost Secure EDI... No VAN

Internet EDI

In a very competitive business environment, reducing operating costs is critical to being able to realize a profit. Using EDI functionality via a VAN is one way to interact with your trading partners quickly and efficiently. Unfortunately the cost of the VAN may be more than can be justified for the level of EDI capability that you need.

Over the last few years a new standard, AS2, has quietly emerged, and is now fully supported by many retail vendors and suppliers including both large and small vendors that provides EDI capabilities without having to rely on an expensive VAN.

FusionWare Integration Corp. has a customer proven AS2 solution for the System i that provides a low-cost alternative to paying VAN charges, giving you an ROI as soon as you start to use it. With FusionWare's solution that has been developed specifically for this new standard, you can now use EDI functionality in real-time with your System i applications. Implementing FusionWare's solution will significantly reduce costs and data entry errors and improve response time resulting in more accurate, timely interaction with your customers improving customer satisfaction and retention.

AS2 - Widely Adopted Industry Standard

AS2 has been a fully published standard since 2001. It was developed with the endorsement of such retail giants as WAL-MART, Ace Hardware, Lowes, K-MART and others to provide a primary standard for internet-based secured communications. These retail giants have long understood that doing their own supply-chain EDI over HTTP saves them significant VAN charges. Now, FusionWare Integration Corp. brings these savings to you, affordably, with real-time integration to your System i applications.

AS2 supports more than just EDI, providing secure, non-repudiable communications for retailers, consumer products goods, hard-lines, insurance, financial services, petroleum and government industries to name just a few. The critical financial information that flows over AS2 messaging represents billions of dollars each year.
